Stanley Gibbons : Commonwealth Stamp Catalogue: India: Including Convention and Feudatory States (Commonwealth Comprehensive) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Commonwealth Stamp Catalogue: India: Including Convention and Feudatory States (Commonwealth Comprehensive):

includes detailed descriptions of different stamps and their variants. This is a very useful guide to have whether you are buying or selling India Convention and Feudatory States Stamps. One of the curious and disappointing omission from this catalog is the section on Bahawalpur stamps. For the description of these stamps, the catalogue directs us to see "Bangladesh, Burma, Pakistan, Sri Lanka One-Country Catalogue." Logically this doesn't make sense, because Las Bela is included in this catalogue - which is now part of Pakistan so why not include Bahawalpur (which is also now part of Pakistan) in this catalog?. I am reviewing here the 4th edition published in 2013 - perhaps, this oversight has been corrected in subsequent editions. Because this is a reference catalog, the publishers should consider spiral binding for future editions. Overall, a great and indispensable stamp catalogue
